“ Debbie & David, I know there is a new star shining brightly in the sky and it is the love of your beautiful sister who is looking down on all the people she loved in her life. God has her in His Heaven and it is a better place because she is there. I know your family and Tim will miss Diane's tangible presence, but just know that she will be in every memory that comes to mind whenever you see or think of something you shared with her while she was here. The pain you feel is a tribute to the place she had in your hearts and although the pain will eventually dim, her light will never go out. May God be with everyone who loved Diane and give you all a brighter tomorrow. She's home now.

“ Tim, I know your mom sure was proud of you making homecoming court and King too!! That was the only time I had met her--at the high school before the grand march. Been thinking of you, sorry I am out of town this weekend.

“ Life takes us on paths that many times we do not understand, and many times the path brings with it tremendous loss and sadness. Please know that while the loss is overwhelming, Diane is still with you in love and memories. She will be with you always. You have my most sincere sympathies and I hold all of you in my heart.
