“ It was very sad to learn of Ed's death. I sang with Ed for many years in the barbershop chorus. He was in the lead section, and would always have a beautiful smile when performing. I last sang with Ed over the Christmas holidays, when we sang for two hours at Trig's, by the Salvation Army kettle. Ed very simply loved to sing, and would sing at every opportunity. He was a great storyteller, and loved to share tales of exploits, whether about singing, playing and coaching lacrosse, gambling or whatever. I have many,many fond memories of Ed that I shall cherish forever. My sincere sympathy goes out to Virginia and all who survive Ed.

“ I'm truly sad to learn of Ed's passing. He was such an enjoyable member of our barbershop chorus, and he had an outstanding sense of humor. When we sang Chattanooga Choo Choo and when we sang the lyrics, "got my bag, I got my reservation", Ed would hold up a sign that said 'Lac du Flambeau'. He was very generous, bring us fry bread when it was his night for snacks during our weekly meeting. At Christmas, he would sing the Ojibwa lyrics to Silent Night. We would joke with him afterwards that he messed up the words, even though none of us would have known the difference. My best to Virginia and his family.
