“Jeremy, I may not know your grandma in person but I'll remember the homemade banana bread mailed to you on the regular, all the way from Minocqua, with that lovely, old-school writing on the package. What a warm, comforting gesture to show how much you were loved and thought about. And you ate them appreciatively, two slices at a time. I'm touched to have witnessed by chance, a sliver of that special bond. It's a simple yet beautiful memory to lean on, among the many others.

My sincere condolences to you and your family.

She was my Confirmation Sponsor and never missed sending me a Christmas card through the years. We will all miss her so much. “ Friends and family sometimes forget that funeral directors and their families also grieve when a loved one dies. Please know that my prayers are with you at this time and hoping that only tears of joy fill your hearts in the coming days.

“ I have always enjoyed chatting with Jan. She was a number one fan of her grandchildren who were so very blessed to have her near. I got to know her better at swim meets and basketball games. I ran into her out & about through the years and always envied her stamina as she aged. Kindhearted & down to earth is how I think of her. Condolences to the family. She will be missed!
