“ LeRoy was a very good basketball player at Lakeland High school in the late 60's. My husband, Mike Leahy, was his coach, he was proud of LeRoy and his brother Carl for their accomplishments. At times LeRoy would just look mean at an opposing player and that player would back off. He was taken out of the game once, which he didn't agree with, so he sat down on the playing floor. and took off shoes. The game couldn't restart until he completed his task, guess he made his point. Whenever LeRoy saw Mike after those high school days, he called him 'coach', Mike really liked that.

“ He always had my back. He made me feel special. If I had only an inkling our last talk was the last, I would have slowed down, spent a little more quiet time together. He was my good friend, always had my back.
