“ I’ve known Mary since the mid 1970’s, she is my son’s paternal grandmother. I remember when she was putting herself through college for library science. She worked so hard to obtain her degree so that she could be the librarian at the Lac du Flambeau library. She was so proud of her success at achieving her goal, as she should be.

I was always amazed at well as how she could stretch her recipes to make food for the whole family that also tasted so darn good. I’ve never had a better venison roast than what she would make!!

She was also so happy to see me and welcomed me with a smile and a hug. I know she will be missed.
