“ Uncle Bob was such a nice, gentle man. I have fond childhood memories of sharing birthday parties for the boys and family gatherings in the basement/den of their new, modern home in Chicago Heights. Also our family time at the cabin in Wisconsin. When Uncle Bob had surgery in the late 1970's, my departed John worked at the Dairy Queen for him with Aunt Joyce, she felt secure with Big John there. John was in between jobs so it worked out well for both of them and of course John got all the burgers and ice cream he could eat! Uncle Bob would come by and laugh. Anyway, I just wanted to share that story with you.
I am so sorry for your loss.
