“ Aunt Yolanda, a woman full of grace and beauty. Her faith in God was strong carrying her through so much. She always voiced her belief that the Lord would be the One to decide when she left this earth, "and not a day before". She knew exactly where she was going the moment her earthly body would die. Oct. 17th was her final reading in her well-worn devotional, Jesus Calling. Yes, Jesus called her home. Until we meet again, thanks for loving me, Auntie.

“ I remember hanging out at the casino with my grandma/Yolanda. This was about a year and a half before she passed, she was so strong and independent up until the very end. It was a fun evening and I'll always cherish those memories
